

DIVINE DOOR

HOMEABOUTBLOGCONTACT

Journey To The
Divine Path

Welcome!

Know More About Us

Divine Door is a platform that aims to raise awareness among individuals regarding the direction of their lives, providing guidance and direction to move forward. It acts as a gateway to lead a divine life. If Divine means HIGHER POWER INSIDE, then DIVINE GUIDANCE means that this Higher Power inside of us is willing to guide us every step of the way. Unfortunately, when we don't ask for Divine Guidance, the Divine lets us play in a dark sandbox until we wake up and pay attention to its existence. If all your life you had to rely on yourself and other humans for all your life answers, you may be oblivious to the fact that the Divine exists, knows you very well, and is willing to guide you in the right direction. In other words, Divine is real, close up, and personal!

Our selection of divine products serves as a means to enhance personal growth and connection with the divine. They function as tools for connecting with the divine.

DIVINE | SPIRITUAL

Divine Guidance

You can cross this ocean of worldliness in only one way. There is only one hand you can trust —

 Read more..

Write Your Blog

LIFESTYLE

Be Simple

Simplicity is a perfect realization of life. It is the achievement of something on which

 Read more..

Gratitude is a positive emotion that involves being thankful and appreciative and is associated with several mental

In psychology, an attitude refers to a set of emotions, beliefs, and behaviors toward a particular object, person, thing, or event.

Be Receptive

You can cross this ocean of worldliness in only one way. There is only one hand you can trust – the divine hand of God, the great guiding force of grace.

The best way to move forward in any endeavor is to use your knowledge, determination, and reasoning abilities in combination with the great divine guidance that's available to you.

At times, when you are feeling isolated and everything seems to be falling apart despite your best efforts, people may offer suggestions on how to overcome the situation. However, the circumstances are so dire that it feels like everything is unresponsive and you feel powerless. You try to take charge of the situation and take control of people and events, but your efforts seem futile. You receive support from those around you, but it also leaves you feeling both strengthened and weakened.

The only thing that keeps you going is HOPE - hope that things will eventually get better and everything will work out in the end. You feel confused and don't understand why things are getting worse each day. You eventually reach a point where you feel tired and no longer in control.

The sages describe this world as being like a deep ocean that's wide and difficult to cross. They also allude to something on the other side that's well worth the effort – an attainment that is called by terms such as realization, enlightenment, liberation, salvation, and nirvana.

Here you are, swimming in the vast waters of worldly life. You want to get there — to that divine state of liberation on the other shore — but there's no map! The way is tumultuous and fraught with distractions and illusions. How are you going to achieve your goal? You may swim with great fervor, but how do you know you're going the right way? There is no land visible as far as your eyes can see. At times, the sun disappears behind some clouds, and you're not even able to see waters that are right in front of you.

Open the door

Trust your inner voice, and it will speak to you more distinctly. When you're considering a particular decision, you can use the following contemplation to ask for guidance. As always, feel free to adjust the words to suit your own beliefs and personal nature.

Example

In a way, it doesn't matter whether or not your image of divine guidance is accurate. Divine guidance doesn't care if you think it looks like a man with a beard, a woman with breasts, an elephant-headed boy, a five-headed god, a blue point of light, or a formless presence. What's most important is for you to find some way to relate to graceful guidance so that you can open the door to receiving its blessing. For example, you don't need to know all the biological and chemical processes that go into creating a stream of water in order to drink from it. However, you do have to have some way of knowing that the water is there and available for you to enjoy.

In the same way, you have to discover how divine guidance manifests for you:

Is this conscious universe teaching you through symbolic hints?

1. Does your guidance come from within?
2. Do you feel that celestial beings are watching over you and whispering hints?
3. Is an all-powerful Lord revealing your steps as you walk on your path of life?

What's most important in receiving guidance is your attitude — your stance of receptivity, humility, trust, and love, along with your pure intentions of serving and bringing greater good to your life and the whole world. These spiritual qualities automatically draw divine guidance to you because the universe likes working with those who are in harmony with its highest good — just like you do!

Trust your inner voice

Divine guidance is an especially important part of the positive creation equation because:

- Intelligence alone doesn't guarantee that you're making the right choices in life.
- Earnestness or will power won't guarantee that you're taking the right paths in life.
- Friends may offer you a helping hand along the way, but where are they really helping you to go? Divine guidance won't steer you in the wrong direction or make you go against your better judgment.

Sit quietly, calm your mind, and ask or state the following:

- God, is there anything you want to tell me?
- Universe, is there any guidance you wish to offer me?
- I am open and receptive to learn.

After repeating these phrases, you may choose to sit quietly and listen for an inner guidance, or open a spiritual book and see what message may be there for you. Truthfully, the universe can speak through anything. Divine messages can come through television shows; via songs on the radio; by walking by and hearing just the right snippet from a nearby conversation; or as a small, still voice in your own heart and soul.

Be Simple

Being Simple is toughest job.

Simplicity

April 11, 2023 by Spiritual Guru

Simplicity is a perfect realization of life. It is the achievement of something on which we work so hard. A person's essential being that distinguishes him or her from others can make or fail him or her. Bringing simplicity into being is highly difficult since it involves working on and with the self and goes on working throughout life. Perhaps, this kind of realization of simplicity made Steve Jobs put into words, "that's been one of my mantras – focus and simplicity. Simple can be harder than complex: You have to work hard to get your thinking clean to make it simple. But it's worth it in the end because once you get there, you can move mountains."

Simplicity is always easy to understand. It makes doing stand uncomplicated and effortless. Simplicity is about the best. It never compromises and under no circumstances accepts the standards that are lower than what is desirable.

Its point of reference always considers the condition of being morally good or correct. This develops into the tendency because of which a person likes and looks interested in something. This tendency leads to supporting goodness and righteousness

'A perfect realization of life'

Simplicity is connected with 'being uncomplicated' and 'making things uncomplicated' and brings them together disallowing nonessential changed and diverse parts to emerge from unproductive objectives involving complications.

Real treasure

Simplicity is a real treasure. When it becomes the much loved and highly valued quality for an individual, the person starts a search for this buried treasure within. One has to bury oneself in real hard work and goodness to have this treasure. This is the only way to have it. One has to possess it to enjoy it and other treasures like it. That is why Lao Tzu treasured simplicity which is evident in, "I have just three things to teach: simplicity, patience, compassion. These three are your greatest treasures."

Application of Simplicity

It is the application of simplicity to make things happen, feel them rather discerning them superficially, invent the rational mind, continue delivering what is rightfully expected and what is right, and live to get on well.

Ultimate sophistication

This application shows that simplicity is the ultimate sophistication, since it ultimately becomes basic or fundamental nature of all the elements of life, gives them freedom to make fine distinctions and involves them in reasoning the purpose out, making decisions not to wait for something but keep doing it and let others see it, internalizing principles and standards of behaviour, understanding 'willingness is meaningless without doing', and valuing authenticity and self-actualization.

- Simplicity is always easy to understand.
- It makes doing stand uncomplicated and effortless.
- Certainty, coherence and intelligibility are embodied in simplicity.

Besides it could always be equated with the crystal clarity of water to understand what transparency and purity it holds.

1. Simplicity remains thoroughly unpretentious.
2. It never attempts to impress
3. It largely seems uninterested in assuming the estimation of abilities with any greater importance.

A sophisticated person can be the one who has, displays and lives out a fair amount of worldly experience and knowledge of fashion and culture.

Gratitude

What does gratitude mean?

Developing Gratitude

April 11, 2023 by Spiritual Guru

Gratitude is a positive emotion that involves being thankful and appreciative and is associated with several mental and physical health benefits. When you experience gratitude, you feel grateful for something or someone in your life and respond with feelings of kindness, warmth, and other forms of generosity.

Practicing Gratitude, is as easy as saying thank you for life's blessings, and the sooner you start, the sooner you'll start reaping the benefits of gratitude—of which there are plenty, by the way.

Gratitude "is a quality of thankfulness," she says. "It's something you intentionally choose to focus on and practice, which means you don't just feel it; you do something about it."

Gratitude is a thankful appreciation for what an individual receives, whether tangible or intangible. With gratitude, people acknowledge the goodness in their lives. In the process, people usually recognize that the source of that goodness lies at least partially outside themselves

Be thankful

Gratitude means the quality of being thankful. It is a positive emotion that involves being thankful and appreciative and is associated with several mental and physical health benefits. When you experience gratitude, you feel grateful for something or someone in your life and respond with feelings of kindness, warmth, and other forms of generosity

Benefits of Gratitude

Some of the benefits of gratitude that researchers have uncovered include better sleep, better immunity, higher self-esteem, decreased stress, lower blood pressure, less anxiety and depression, stronger relationships, and higher levels of optimism

Examples

There are many examples of gratitude that you might feel in your everyday life. Here are a few: Being thankful to the person who cooked for you Being thankful for your good health Appreciating the person who cleans your house Acknowledging your junior at work for taking the initiative to ease your workload

How to Practice Gratitude

Developing a sense of gratitude isn't complex or challenging. It doesn't require any special tools or training. And the more you practice it, the better you will become and put yourself into a grateful state of mind. Here's how to do this:

- Observe the moment.
- Write it down.
- Savor the moment
- Create gratitude rituals.
- Write it down.
- Give thanks

Benefits of Gratitude

1. Gratitude can help relieve stress.
2. Gratitude can make you feel more positive emotions.
3. Gratitude can help you calm down in tough moments.
4. Gratitude strengthens your social relationships.
5. Gratitude might help you understand others better.
6. Gratitude might make you physically healthier.

"[Gratitude] puts us into communication and communion with the world around us (often as represented by other people)," Borg says. "[It]

Attitude

What exactly the attitude is?

Nature & Characteristics

January 1, 2014 by Spiritual Guru

In psychology, an attitude refers to a set of emotions, beliefs, and behaviors toward a particular object, person, thing, or event.

Attitudes are often the result of experience or upbringing. They can have a powerful influence over behavior and affect how people act in various situations. While attitudes are enduring, they can also change. The main components of attitude are cognitive, affective, and behavioral, which means they incorporate thoughts, feelings, and actions.

An attitude is a positive, negative, or mixed evaluation of an object expressed at some level of intensity. It is an expression of a favorable or unfavorable evaluation of a person, place, thing, or event. These are fundamental determinants of our perceptions of and actions toward all aspects of our social environment. Attitudes involve a complex organization of evaluative beliefs, feelings, and tendencies toward certain actions.

An attitude is a mental and neural state of readiness, organized through experience, exerting a directive or dynamic influence upon the individual's response to all objects and situations with which it is related.

Definition of Attitude

Attitude is the manner, disposition, feeling, and position about a person or thing, tendency, or orientation, especially in the mind.

How Psychologists Define Attitudes

Psychologists define attitudes as a learned tendency to evaluate things in a certain way. This can include evaluations of people, issues, objects, or events. Such evaluations are often positive or negative, but they can also be uncertain at times.

Example

For example, you might have mixed feelings about a particular person or issue. Researchers also suggest that there are several different characteristics that make up attitudes.

Attitude Formation

Several factors can influence how and why attitudes form, including:

- Experience.
- Social Factors.
- Learning
- Conditioning

Attitudes and Behavior

1. Changing to Match Behavior.
2. Using Cognitive Dissonance

Attitudes can form through direct experience, social influence, formal education, conditioning processes, and observation.

Designed by Ruchi MSharma .All rights reserved.
Back to top

Editor.html

On clicking the button on home.html , it will route to editor.html

Blog title...

Publish Upload Image